

...the saints go marching in

...the sun refuse to shine

...the moon turns red like blood

...the stars begin to fall

...they crown him king of all